ON STANDARDISATION (IN ARCHITECTURE, DESIGN, LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE)

Architecture, landscape architecture, and urbanism are characterised today by a process of standardisation and banalisation. Uniformity is both a positive and negative value which depends on the context where things are assimilated or not. The conference discusses the implications as well as the historical bases of this tendency.